Welcome

Graduation is a special time for students and their families and I always enjoy being part of the celebrations. Congratulations to all students graduating this December. Graduation is a celebration and acknowledgement of all the hard work you have done during your study years. I am delighted to be able to share this important moment with your friends and family and to recognise your academic success.

University is more than an academic experience, it is a time for developing independence, not only in your life, but in your thoughts, ideas and actions too.

I hope that your new qualifications give you the confidence to speak your minds, challenge the status quo and strive for change that benefits not just you, but the communities in which you live and work.

I hope too, that you will remember your university days fondly and I urge you to retain your links with the University of Waikato and take time to reconnect with fellow alumni as you make your way in the world.

Rt Hon James Bolger ONZ
Chancellor
University of Waikato

Graduation is a wonderful part of the tradition of universities, and one that I am pleased to uphold at the University of Waikato. Acknowledging scholarship and recognising student achievement is at the core of the mission of all universities.

Each institution has its own approach to recognising student achievement, introducing its own traditions that reflect local custom and circumstance. It is what makes each ceremony special and unique. The University of Waikato is no different, its graduation ceremony combining both elements that reflect the 800 years of tradition since the first universities were established and elements that reflect its unique culture as an institution.

I welcome students, friends and family to graduation at the University of Waikato. I know many of you have travelled a long way to be here. For all graduates, I hope your experience today happily concludes what has no doubt been an eventful and fulfilling journey and that you take away fond memories of your time at the University of Waikato.

Professor Neil Quigley
Vice-Chancellor
University of Waikato

Gemma currently works in the philanthropic sector as a Foundation Co-ordinator for Momentum Waikato, one of New Zealand's newest community foundations, an independent, permanent resource for high impact philanthropic giving in the Waikato region. The Foundation links generous donors to strategic charitable investments targeted at transformational change, whilst building a permanent endowment for the benefit of generations to come. Her job has given her an opportunity to help shape and build the region's community foundation.

Ceremonial Traditions

Elements of university graduation ceremonies have evolved from the 12th century when the first universities emerged in Europe.

The organisation of medieval universities was modelled on the established institutions of the day – the church, the monastery and the guild.

Latin was the language used by medieval scholars, and it is from Latin that the words 'university' and 'degree' are derived. The Latin term universitas means a guild or union, and universities started as a scholastic guild – a self-constituted community of teachers and scholars.

The word graduate comes from the Latin word gradus, which means step. Admission to study a bachelors degree was the first step taken towards completing a university education. The second step was to become a 'master'. Masters were Master of Arts graduates whose degrees licensed them to teach. The Chancellor, an officer of the cathedral, originally granted teaching licences.

CEREMONIAL ROBES AND ACADEMIC DRESS

In the Middle Ages the corporate existence of universities was recognised and sanctioned by civil or ecclesiastical authority. The regalia worn by graduates and university staff today reflect this mix of medieval governance. Robes worn by the Chancellor resemble those worn by the Lord Chancellor of England. Graduates and academic staff wear gowns similar to the dress of medieval clergy. Hoods are also fashioned on an everyday medieval garment, although the coloured lining was a later addition to indicate the wearer's university and degree.

Pou Whenua

The ceremonial carved Māori mace being used in today's graduation ceremony represents the strong links between the University and Māori.

In 1965, just a year after the University of Waikato was established, Kīngitanga head Koroki invited founding University of Waikato Chancellor and Hamilton Mayor Denis Rogers, along with 20 University of Waikato graduates, to Tūrangawaewae Marae in Ngaruawahia.

There he presented the fledgling institution with the carved taonga to be used as ceremonial mace. The piece was carved by master carver Piri Poutapu, who established a carving school at Tūrangawaewae in 1932. When not being used, the taonga sits in pride of place at the head of the University Council chamber.

God Defend New Zealand

E Ihowā Atua,
O ngā Iwi mātou rā
Āta whakarongona;
Me aroha noa
Kia hua ko te pai;
Kia tau tō atawhai;
Manaakitia mai
Aotearoa

God of Nations at Thy feet
In the bonds of love we meet
Hear our voices we entreat
God defend our free land
Guard Pacific's Triple Star
From the shafts of strife and war
Make her praises heard afar
God defend New Zealand

THE UNIVERSITY OF WAIKATO
Te Whare Wānanga o Waikato

The University of Waikato's motto is Ko Te Tangata – For the people. It's an appropriate maxim for a university that was established when a group of people in the Waikato determined that the region should have its own university and reinforces our belief that people are central to the University and are its most valued resource.

In its first year, there were 181 enrolments. Fifty-one years later there are about 12,500 students, and 2,000 of them come from overseas. The University is committed to delivering a world-class education and research portfolio, and pursuing strong international links to advance knowledge. Staff endeavour to keep their teaching future-focused and play an active part in global research.

Since 1988 the University has had a presence in the Bay of Plenty, partnering polytechnics there to offer a range of qualifications, and more recently planning has begun for a new tertiary campus in the Tauranga CBD.

THE CAMPUS

The Hamilton campus covers 65 hectares and is arguably the most attractive university campus in New Zealand, with gardens and grounds that attract a range of sports teams for practise and tournaments, and which provide a venue for many community activities.

There is an ongoing programme of building development and refurbishment on campus. The most recent construction is the new Law building that opened this year. The building has been designed with sustainable features such as a living lawn roof, natural ventilation and glazed corridor walls for natural lighting. It also has a fully-equipped court room.

NEW OPPORTUNITIES

We welcomed a new Vice-Chancellor in 2015, and with Professor Neil Quigley's arrival there has been a complete curriculum review, some important new staff appointments, and an increased drive to ensure university study becomes accessible to a wider range of students.

At the beginning of this year we launched Te Ara ki Angitū: Pathways to Excellence – a programme designed with four secondary schools in South Waikato to widen the pathway to university study by alleviating the barriers of affordability and transport and installing quality support and guidance. Forty students began the programme in 2016.

A university's reputation is important for attracting students and staff, from New Zealand and overseas. International rankings are based on teaching, research, citations, industry outcomes, innovation and international outlook. The University of Waikato was ranked 338 in the world by the QS (Quacquarelli Symonds Limited) World University Rankings 2015. This was a climb in the rankings of more than 60 places from 2014 and this year QS ranked 11 of our subjects in the top 200 in the world.

Times Higher Education ranks the University of Waikato 61st out of 100 "most international" universities in the world, reflecting the truly global education that is received by students studying at Waikato. It also takes into account the ratio of international staff and students on campus and the proportion of research papers being generated with an international co-author.
